

Mittenwald School Violin
Old South German / Late 18th to Early 19th Century

A charming and highly musical old Mittenwald school violin with beautifully flamed maple and rich golden-brown varnish displaying an attractive natural patina.

The instrument offers a very good, warm and mature sound with strong projection, a dark lower register, a new bass bar, and a clear singing upper register. The elegant hand-carved scroll and refined workmanship give the violin individuality beyond ordinary trade instruments.

Professionally adjusted and ready to play.
